

As longstanding residents in Javea, we know the country, the people, family and public life. We will do our best to follow your wishes and help you with advice and practical assistance in all your affairs.

We speak English as well as Spanish - an important factor for optimum communication in Javea's large expatriate community.

You will have the opportunity to talk to many of our clients in order to gather as much objective information as you need. This should enable you to decide whether or not you wish to continue working with us.

Our philosophy is that we do not merely wish to close a sales contract, rather that we wish to guide our clients into their new environment & assist them wherever possible.

If your house is an investment property, we can if desired increase its profitability without increasing your workload by arranging rentals, regularly inspecting and maintaining it on your behalf.
